

AFR has been called “the leading voice for Wall Street accountability” in Washington. We are seeking an Oversight Project Manager to help us take the next steps in this important work. NOTE: This will be a 12-month, fulltime, project position.

Formed in the wake of the 2008 financial crisis, our coalition led the ‘outside’ campaign to strengthen and win passage of the Dodd Frank Financial Reform bill, including the creation of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. Since then we have fought Wall Street capture of policy making, improving countless rules and regulations, reigning in abuses by predatory lenders, and putting big new ideas on the table to transform the financial system. AFREF’s staff effectively advances the agenda of a broad and powerful coalition of more than 200 consumer, civil rights, labor, community-based, and other organizations, along with academics and experts, working together to move forward this fundamentally important set of levers for progress towards economic and racial justice.

The Oversight Project Manager will work with staff and partners to drive multifaceted work related to oversight of the COVID 19 funds and programs, including in particular the Treasury/Federal Reserve facilities. The job will include working with and helping to build an effective coalition, coordination of research and policy products, and thinking creatively about narratives, policy handles, strategies and tactics for engaging diverse organizations, driving a public narrative, and taking on corporate abuses.

The Project Manager will:

- Play a leadership role--in consultation with other staff and allies - in moving a coalition project and set of campaigns, including helping to develop and implement a broad range of strategies and tactics
- Collaborate with AFR policy and communications staff, and with the policy and communications staff of coalition members, to develop and articulate compelling explanations of our goals, and to connect them to broader narratives about economic and racial justice.
- Work with other AFREF staff to produce high-quality research and campaign products, including reports and white papers, fact sheets, communications materials, and letters to Congress and regulators;
- Monitor, track, review, and summarize regulatory and legislative developments and actions by AFR and our coalition partners.
- Represent the organization in meetings with allies and policy makers

Ideal candidates will have:

- A strong commitment to economic and racial justice;
- At least 5 years of organizing, issue campaign and/or policy advocacy experience
- Strong issue spotting, policy analysis and research skills;
- Write effectively for a broad range of audiences, including translating complicated policy issues into laypersons language;
- An ability to connect with many different kinds of organizations and constituency groups and experience working with diverse communities;
- The ability to drive results and to collaborate effectively with colleagues and allies;
- Be very well organized and comfortable working in a fast paced and diverse environment.
