Dear Representative,

On behalf of Americans for Financial Reform, we are writing to convey our strong opposition to sections 501 through 504 of the Financial Services and General Government Appropriations bill for fiscal year 2015, provisions which would seriously undermine the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) and interfere with the agency's ability to fulfill its consumer-protection mission.

The CFPB, established by the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010, is the nation's only financial regulator completely devoted to consumer protection. Since the agency opened its door in July 2011 it has been protecting consumers by ensuring that markets work in an open, transparent, and fair way. The Bureau's mission is to hold financial companies accountable for being up front about the costs of, and risks associated with, their products, and also to ensure that consumers are treated with dignity and respect, rather than set up to fail. The Bureau has successfully gone to bat for consumers, delivering results that are making markets work more fairly and putting a stop to fraud and abuse. Polls show that a large majority of Americans strongly approve of the activities of the Bureau.

Sections 501-504 of the proposed appropriations measure would eliminate the CFPB's independence and undermine its ability to be an effective watchdog by making it - unlike the FDIC and the OCC - funded through the appropriations process. This change would leave the CFPB vulnerable to financial industry efforts to cut off funding in retaliation for doing its job. Bank regulators have historically been funded outside of the appropriations process to avoid this outcome, which poses serious risks to our financial system and our economy.

Section 501 would repeal the section of the Dodd-Frank Act, which states that funds transferred to the CFPB from the Federal Reserve may not be subject to review by the Appropriations Committee; Section 502 then would then require that beginning October 1, 2015, funding would be authorized only as appropriated by Congress to the agency. Sections 503 and 504 would require the CFPB to notify the appropriate Congressional Committees, in the period leading up to October 1, 2015, of each of their transfer requests. The Bureau would be required to make quarterly detailed reports to committees on expenditures.

In addition to shifting the cost of funding the Bureau onto taxpayers, these provisions subject the CFPB to enormously increased political pressure from the financial services industry. The financial crisis made it abundantly clear how important it is for Congress to support financial regulators ability and inclination to avoid capture, and stand up for the public interest. We urge you to defend effective consumer financial protection and oppose this proposal.

Sincerely,

Americans for Financial Reform
