Dear Representative,

Americans for Financial Reform urges you to oppose H.R. 5211 or any similar bills that weaken the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) by confusing its statutory purpose or undermining its leadership structure.

The bill's change to the CFPB's statutory purpose would serve to confuse the CFPB's clear mandate to "ensur[e] that all consumers have access to markets for consumer financial products and services and that markets for consumer financial products and services are fair, transparent, and competitive."¹ H.R. 5211 would revise the CFPB's purpose to include the objective of facilitating the sale of consumer financial products "without Government interference," an incoherent aim for the government agency charged with stopping "unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices."²

The bill's other proposed changes to the CFPB's mandate are duplicative of the CFPB's existing statutory objectives, which already include ensuring that "markets for consumer financial products and services operate transparently and efficiently to facilitate access and innovation."³ Similarly, CFPB rulemaking already must "consider the potential benefits and costs to consumers and covered persons, including the potential reduction of access by consumers to consumer financial products or services resulting from such rule."⁴ The bill's proposed changes are therefore wholly unnecessary and would only muddy the CFPB's mandate.

H.R. 5211 would also require the CFPB to establish an "Office of Economic Analysis," ignoring that CFPB already has a Research, Markets & Regulations Division and employs dozens of economists, including a Chief Economist who heads its Office of Research. The bill also includes a bizarre provision to require the new Office of Economic Analysis to publish its disagreements with the CFPB Director in the Federal Register, a transparent attempt to embarrass the CFPB's leadership and aid industry-backed litigation to stop CFPB rules.

We urge you to oppose this bill and any similar proposals that would confuse the CFPB's purpose or undermine its rulemaking authority.
